

Can I Get a Refund from Lastminute? (Complete Refund Guide)

Yes, you can get a refund from lastminute.com, but it often depends on the type of booking (refundable vs. non-refundable), the airline's policies, or if the cancellation was initiated by them. Customers must generally request cash instead of vouchers, and the process can be difficult, sometimes requiring a credit card chargeback.

If you've booked travel through Lastminute and your plans have changed, you're probably wondering whether you can get your money back. The answer depends on several factors such as the type of booking, cancellation policies, and timing.

This step-by-step guide will help you understand how refunds work and how to request one efficiently in the USA, UK, and Mexico.

Step-by-Step Refund Process

1. Check Your Booking Type

Start by reviewing your reservation details. Refund eligibility depends on whether you booked a refundable or non-refundable option. Flights, hotels, and packages may all have different rules.

2. Review Cancellation Policies

Each booking comes with specific terms. Look for sections labeled "cancellation" or "refund policy."
